Diversity, Inclusion and Collection Development

Selected Readings and Resources

Compiled by Megan Schliesman Cooperative Children's Book Center School of Education, UW-Madison Updated April 2021

Resources for Evaluation, Selection and Critical Thinking

Links:

- CCBC Diversity Resources: Includes many blogs and web sites focusing on content reviews and critical thinking about diverse books, as well as professional resources on diverse materials and services in libraries and classrooms.
- Annual Awards/Best-of-the-Year lists: Includes many identity-based lists (e.g., Pura Belpré Awards, Coretta Scott King Award, South Asia Book Award, etc.)

CCBC Recommended Book Search: Enables searching books and creators by identity-based diversity tags (e.g, race/ethnicity, LGBTQ, religion, gender)

Resources for Using Diverse Books

Articles (available full-text in Badgerlink Academic Search database):

Krueger, Anna Haase and Tamara Lee. "Storytime-Palooza! Racial Diversity and Inclusion in Storytime." Children and Libraries (Fall 2016): 18-22.

Ideas for diverse books and other materials in story times. Additional resources suggested in article and bibliography

Meminger, Neesha. "Getting Diverse Books into the Hands of Teen Readers: How Do We Do It?" Young Adult Library Serivces (Spring 2011): 10-13.

Personal essay about the value of diverse books and her appreciate for a librarian who gently help her find books that she didn't necessarily want/ask for, but needed. Discusses specific strategies.

Blog Posts:

"How Labeling Books As Diverse Reinforces White Supremacy" by Alexandria Brown. Lee and Low blog post.

Advises against labeling books in a library collection as "diverse" or "multicultural"; this sends the message "whiteness" is the norm

"Role-Models." CCBC "On Books and Publishing" blog post..

Encourages library staff to embrace their power as role models for their community when it comes to inclusion.

Web sites:

Everyday Diversity Project (diverse books connected to many story time themes): http://everydaydiversity.blogspot.com/ (Note: last post January 2018—still has lots of great ideas)